About the Meeting

Welcome to the 3rd International Transplantation Science meeting, an opportunity for attendees to discuss cutting-edge research in the field of transplantation in an interactive environment that facilitates networking and collaboration amongst transplant scientists. The idyllic location of Niagara-on-the-Lake offers an intimate, less formal, retreat atmosphere that lends itself to advancements in this topic.

The basic science community within the field of transplantation is a tight-knit and dynamic group that benefits greatly from dedicated meeting opportunities to share knowledge and establish collaborations. As such, the basic science leadership within The Transplantation Society (TTS) Transplantation Science Committee (TSC), the American Society of Transplantation (AST) Community of Basic Scientists (COBS), European Society of Transplantation (ESOT) Basic Science Committee (BSC), are planning a two-and-a-half day meeting from April 30 to May 3, 2023.

Who Should Attend this Conference?

Traditionally this meeting is of great value to basic and translational scientists studying transplantation, as well as medical, surgical and PhD trainees with this same interests.

ABOUT NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE

Niagara-on-the-Lake was the first capital of Upper Canada and its heritage district is one of the best-preserved 19th Century towns in North America. Gorgeous red-brick buildings, perfectly manicured lawns, tree-lined streets and window boxes overflowing with flowers are so perfectly pretty it could almost be a film set.

It's a favourite for Torontonians on a weekend break, and sitting on a patio drinking a glass of local wine while watching a horse-drawn carriage trot by. It's a place where time slows down – where you can relax, unwind and explore.
